Cut out the calling cards · Draw one and show it

Getting ready

Cut out the six boards, twelve calling cards and markers. Give each player one board and nine markers. Shuffle the calling cards face down.

Find, cover and complete

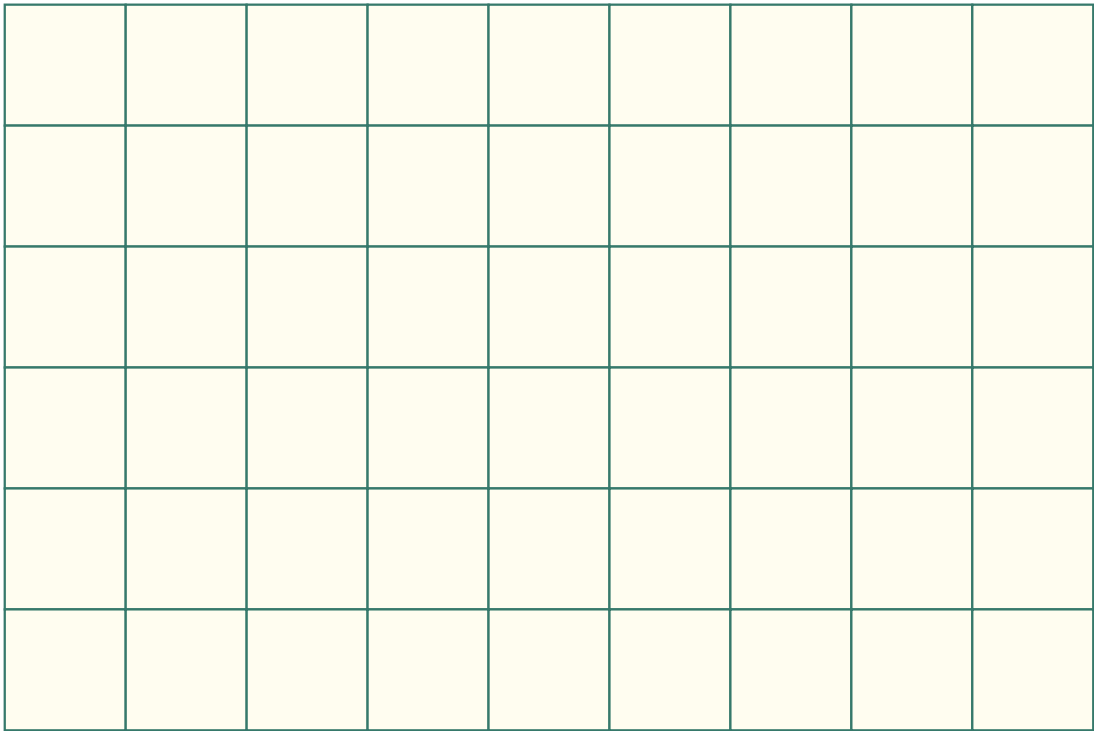

Reveal one calling card and set it aside without replacing it. Everyone covers that picture if they have it. First to cover all nine wins; players finishing together share the win.

Play for a full board, not a line. For another round, clear the boards and shuffle all twelve calling cards again.

54 markers · Nine per player

Cut the six strips first, then separate the squares. Give each player nine markers.

You can also use large counters you already own. Keep the boards, calling cards and markers together.
